Foundation Day 2019-20

IIPS FOUNDATION DAY 2020

With great pomp and show, the IIPS family celebrates the Foundation Day of our esteemed institute on 14th of August every year. This year while the corona virus had brought everything to a standstill and had disrupted the nature flow, we at IIPS took it as challenge and went on to remind the lessons from history that human endurance and enterprise have triumphed against every odd and collectively, we have the potential to overcome the impossible. At IIPS, our glorious institutional heritage and intellectual pursuits are always achieved through united and collective stand. And, thus, we turned this massive hurdle into one of the greatest opportunities. The theme of this year's program was Reflections and Introspections.

On 14th of August 2020 at 4:00 pm, using the online platform, we kicked off our Foundation Day. We were graced by the presence of our Director Prof. K.S. James, fellow ex-faculty members, alumni members as well as current faculty members, scholars and students with 200+ participants. The program started with welcome speech by our cultural coordinator Dr. Aparajita Chattopadhyay followed by the address of honorable Director. Ex-faculty members and renowned alumni like Prof Srinivasan, Prof A Pandey shared their experiences and anecdotes of their times in the institute. They also made an attempt to connect their experiences with those of the students of the current generation. In addition to that, they also motivated the current students to work hard and keep bettering themselves continuously.

The speeches by ex-faculty members were accompanied by virtual dance and signing performances by scholars and students of the institute. It was a very successful event fruitfully motivating and inspiring one and all to keep enduring as patience always bears the sweetest fruit.

Independence day 2019

The cultural committee of IIPS brought to the students LAZEEZ: The Annual food Festival on the campus on 20th December 2019 which witnessed a footfall of hundreds of visitors. Over 20 food stalls were set up to showcase the diversity of Indian cuisine including mocktails, malpoa, pasta, chicken, fish and a lot more of interesting dishes.

Various quiz questions about food and bollywood added up more flavour to the event with every correct answer earning a free food coupon for themselves. Another attraction was the photo exhibition on the theme Life@IIPS by the photography club of the institute.

The event saw its climax with fun games like "taste your fear", "Jalebi race", "balloon race" and "sing till you drop". Everyone's favourite was the famous game of confessions, "benam khat" leaving us in surprise, laughter and blushes.

Everyone enjoyed thoroughly. Nothing more than the flavours of food prepared with so much love and effort can make every face smile. Cultural committee thanks everyone for their support and cooperation.

Prof. P.N. Mari Bhat Memorial Lecture

Prof. K. S. James felicitating Dr. Christophe Z. Guilmoto

Audience on the day

The Eleventh Professor P.N. Mari Bhat Memorial Lecture was held on 18 December, 2018, and Dr. Christophe Z. Guilmoto, Senior Fellow in Demography at the French Institut de Recherche pour le Développement (IRD), Paris, delivered the lecture on “Sex imbalances at birth: today and tomorrow” on the occasion. Prof. K.S. James, Director and Senior Professor, IIPS, chaired the session. In his lecture Dr. Guilmoto highlighted that the issues of sex imbalances in current situation and spatial dependence of sex imbalances at birth. He stated that sex ratios at birth (SRB) rose from 105 male births per 100 female births (normal level) towards 110-130 (5 to 25% excess male births) since the 1980s. Affected countries are clustered in East and South Asia, South Caucasus and Southeast Europe. The increase is caused mostly by sex selective abortions: prenatal sex diagnosis (ultrasound) followed by abortion of female foetuses. Meanwhile, females are also missing due to excess female mortality both in childhood and adulthood. He pointed out that all sex ratio imbalances display very strong spatial patterns (usually stronger than those of other demographic features). This spatial dependence can be construed as the product of other unobserved locally grounded features such as gender systems and a pure spatial effect of hot spots and diffusion. The stability of these spatial patterns has important implications over a long period and spatial diffusion a likely predictor of future changes. He stated that the SRB initially tends to oscillate around 105. After which, it may rise, but it never drops below 105. When it rises, it does so continuously. It then tends to stabilize around a plateau level. Never goes beyond 120 in countries or 130 in regions. It never rebounds after reaching a first plateau. It usually drops after stabilization and may return to normalcy. National SRB levels in large countries are often the composite product of distinct regional trajectories. Structural determinants of SRB like fertility decline, technology or son preference are well-established. Future declines are likely to be caused by decline in son preference, yet, the role of policy interventions remain poorly understood, the impact of fertility rebounds remain to be investigated, events triggering the rise (and the turnaround) may remain somewhat contingent and unpredictable. SRB profiles (inverted U-shaped) tend to be similar across countries and may help predict downturns. We need to understand the tempo (calendar) and quantum (intensity) of the sex ratio transition. Heterogeneity within countries leads to different regional or social SRB trajectories, complicating forecasting. Strong spatial dependence should help to predict future spread within countries.

The memorial lecture was organized by Prof. H. Lhungdim and Dr. Harihar Sahoo, Publication Cell, IIPS.

Global Youth Tobacco Survey (GYTS-4)

Launched in 1999 as a joint collaboration of WHO and CDC, the Global Youth Tobacco Survey (GYTS) is a global standard for systematically monitoring youth tobacco use (smoking and smokeless) and tracking key tobacco control indicators. It is a school-based survey, designed to enhance the capacity of the countries to monitor tobacco use among youth students (aged 13-15 years). It is one of the largest public health surveillance systems, with surveys conducted in more than 188 countries/sites. It is an important tool to assist countries in supporting WHO MPOWER, a package of six evidence-based demand reduction measures contained in the WHO's Framework Convention on Tobacco Control (FCTC). In India, three rounds of GYTS was previously conducted in 2003, 2006 and 2009.

GYTS-4 in India is a national level school based tobacco survey which focuses on adolescents aged 13–15 years. The Ministry of Health and Family Welfare (MoHFW), Government of India has assigned IIPS as a nodal agency to conduct GYTS-4. The survey will be conducted during 2019. The World Health Organisation (WHO) is providing technical support for this survey. IIPS has initiated the preparatory process in November, 2017 and formally started the actual activities from April, 2018.

GYTS-4 Specific Objectives:

- To determine the level of tobacco, use by State/UTs, residence and sex (urban/rural).
- To estimate the age of initiation of cigarette and bidi smoking and smokeless tobacco.
- To estimate the exposure to second hand smoking (SHS).
- To estimate the exposure to tobacco advertising.

- To assess the extent to which major prevention programmes are reaching school-based populations and establish the subjective opinions of these populations regarding such intervention.

Sampling Design:

Total sample size for GYTS-4 in India is proposed to be 100,000 students from about 1000 schools across the states and UTs. The classes/standards to be covered are 8th, 9th and 10th standards belonging to age 13-15 age group. The total sample size of 100,000 will be selected based on probability proportional to size (PPS) on logarithmic scale ensuring the consideration of size as well as geographical spread of the population. GYTS-4 follows multi-stage geographically clustered sampling design.

GYTS-4 Progress of Activities:

The Proposal of GYTS-4 was approved by MoHFW in March, 2018. Selection and recruitment of staff for the project has been completed by May 2018. On 24th July 2018, the first Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) meeting was held. In this meeting procedure for selection of field agencies for the survey was discussed. There was also preliminary discussion on questionnaire and sampling procedure.

Soon after TAC-1, GYTS-4 questionnaires were revised in accordance with the suggestions and comments received from WHO and the MoHFW. The GYTS-4 has two types of Questionnaires: (A) School Policy Questionnaire (about 10 short questions for heads of schools) and (B) Student's Questionnaire (about 70 questions). Approval of the Questionnaires from Institutional Review Board (IRB) of IIPS was obtained on 31st August 2018. On 11th September 2018, second TAC Meeting was held, during which detailed discussion on sampling procedure and finalizing of questionnaires took place. After TAC-2, drafting of the Request for Proposal (RFP) for selection of Field Agencies (FAs) was carried out and the ministry's approval has been received. The final GYTS-4 questionnaires have been translated into Hindi and Marathi.

The District Information System for Education (DISE) data has been used for sampling frame and preparation of school list. Sampling and selection of schools for various states have been performed according to WHO recommended sampling methodology.

The first draft of Field Manual has also been completed and preparation for pre-test of the questionnaires begun from mid-November 2018. Permission from nearby schools was obtained and pre-test was conducted in the first week of December in few selected schools in Mumbai. Currently, the Request for Proposal (RFP) for selection of Field Agencies (FAs) has been finalized, and the same has been floated on IIPS Website, newspapers, and other government sites.

Causes and Consequences of Out-Migration from Middle Ganga Plain

Middle Ganga Plain situated in between foothills of Himalaya from north and peninsula edge from south. It covers a large physical area (approx. 144,409 sq km) with an immense human, cultural and economic significance for the country. It comprises of two different administrative divisions (UP- 27 districts and Bihar- 37 districts) but identical cultural and economic pattern provides unity and coherence to this region and a geographical personality. Within the region there are six physio-cultural regions, which differ in terms of socio-economic and cultural practices. Migration from this region has been deeply rooted since past two centuries. In post LPG reform period, both internal and international migration and role of remittances in household livelihood have become predominant feature. The innovation in IT and communication has further added new dimensions in the migration studies.

A workshop on Introduction to R and Spatial Analysis with R Model Approaches, Maps, and Big Geodata

The International Institute for Population Sciences conducted a six-day workshop on "Introduction to R and Spatial Analysis with R Model Approaches, Maps, and Big Geodata" during August 20-25, 2018 in collaboration with the Max Planck Institute for Demographic Research, Rostock, Germany, and the Federal Institute for Population Research, Wiesbaden, Germany. Thirty-six persons were selected to attend the workshop from among 218 applications from the research scholars and professionals working in the universities, research institutions, government and non-government organizations.

The workshop was coordinated by Prof. Usha Ram, Dr. Sebastian Klüsener and Mr. Anjani Kumar Mishra. Prof. Sebastian Klüsener was the resource person for the workshop. The course typically comprised of classroom lectures during the pre-lunch sessions and hands on exercise during post-lunch sessions. Three volunteer facilitated the resource person during the post-lunch practice sessions. During the workshop, an e-group was created to foster interactions between participants and resource persons and to help each other on a sustainable basis even after the completion of the workshop participants. The group is very active and participants find it extremely useful. On the last day of workshop, all the participants and volunteers were given a certificate of participation for their successful completion of the workshop. The workshop training materials consisting of R-syntax and commands, referred datasets and power point presentations, etc. were made available for use and self-learning to all the faculty, research staff and students of IIPS.

Workshop on ‘Triple Burden of Malnutrition in India: are we heading towards a human capital crisis?’

On October 8, 2018, the University of Sydney (USYD) and International Institute for Population Sciences (IIPS) jointly organized a workshop on triple burden of malnutrition in India - coexistence of undernutrition, overweight/obesity and micronutrient deficiency in the same population, community, household, or individuals. The workshop aimed to bring together experts from various disciplines - economics, nutrition, health; as well representatives from NGOs and the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare to assess what has been done and brainstorm what can be done to address the concerns with multiple burdens of malnutrition in the country. A key conclusion of the day-long discussion was that multiple burdens of malnutrition is indeed an emerging problem in our country, a particular area of concern being the rising overweights among rural residents. Interestingly, exploratory analysis reveals that dual burden of nutrition in India is dominant in middle-to-upper income households. Interdisciplinary and intersectoral efforts are crucial in tackling the problem. Complexity of the issue also calls for increasing synergy between academia and policymakers to better understand the various causal forces and accordingly design effective interventions. The workshop was funded by the India Development Fund of the Office of Global Engagement, USYD.

Workshop on Meta Analysis

Aiming to provide an intense training on Meta-Analysis to postgraduates (MA, MSc and PhD scholars), a one-day workshop on ‘Meta-Analysis’ was held on 17 October, 2018 in the campus. The main objective was to teach one of the quantitative, formal, epidemiological study designs used to systematically assess the results of previous research to derive conclusions about that body of research. Dr. Geetha R. Menon, Scientist E, ICMR-National Institute of Medical Statistics ICMR Campus, New Delhi delivered a lecture on “Introduction and Application of Meta-Analysis”. Around 100 research scholars attended the workshop in two different sessions. The workshop was organised by PhD Co-ordinator, Prof. Sayeed Unisa, Department of Mathematical Demography & Statistics.

Department of Extra Mural Studies and Distance Education-Contact Programme

The Department of Extra Mural Studies and Distance Education organized a one-week Contact Programme for the MPS/MA Distance Learners at the Institute during December 3-7, 2018. Twenty-two Distance Learners (4 MPS and 18 M.A. course) attended the contact programme. The Contact Programme is usually conducted once in a year, i.e., in the month of June every year. However, considering the request of the distance learners, the Department decided to organize the Contact Program in December. This was the first Contact Programme conducted in December at the Institute.

Participants (Distance Learners) of Contact Programme along with Offg. Director, Faculty members and staff of the Department

Following the Contact Programme, examinations were also held for the distance learners of various batches of MPS and 1st batch of M.A course during December 10-20, 2018. About 15 distance learners of MPS course appeared in the viva-voce examination held in December 2018. The 2018 batch of distance learners have registered now and 75 candidates have joined the M.A. in Population Studies Programme. The Department is also in the process of revising and updating the study materials.

Beside this, Prof Ram also undertook joint analysis on “Childlessness in India: Spatial analysis” with Dr. K Sebastian and on “Components of urban population growth” with Dr. L. Mathias.

Cultural Programmes

The cultural committee is responsible to organize events that provide a platform to students to nurture and show their talent in various fields. IIPS has always provided opportunities to prove their mettle in different fields. Number of students, staff and faculty participation at IIPS has increased in the past couple of years. The Cultural Committee organized UMANG, Foundation Day, Diwali, Food Festival and New Years' Eve.. The Cultural Committee of IIPS is looking forward to start different clubs too in the near future to organize events on a large platform. 'UMANG' was the first 'cultural week' celebrated during 8-11th August drawing huge participation from students all over the institute. Events such as quiz, elocution, treasure hunt and mono-acting attracted an enormous crowd from the institute.

The Annual Foundation day is one of the most awaited events of IIPS. This year, Foundation Day was celebrated with the theme "Retro" held on 14th August, 2018. Performances were commendable based on the current year's Retro theme. The backdrop and decoration were very much appreciated by all because of the hard work of the creative and the in-house team of IIPS.

Diwali celebrations at IIPS

Diwali, the festival of lights, was celebrated with great joy by students and staff. There were around 1500 Diyas lit all around the campus which created a mesmerizing view of the institute. “Lazeez”, the very new initiative by the cultural committee was celebrated on 21st December, 2018. The whole college seemed enthusiastic as they served exotic homemade delicacies. Students participated in large numbers and many students also took interest in specific dress codes.

Participants with their delicacies at the Food Fest “LAZEEZ”

IIPS also organized a special talk by Rashtriya Garima Abhiyaan (RGA), wherein a dignity march to end sexual violence against women and children was held in the institute. Present at the event are survivors of sexual violence themselves addressing the crowd thereby bringing an end to the culture of silence and victim blaming/ shaming! Lastly, IIPS celebrated the New Years’ Eve with great delight with a cultural event filled with phenomenal performances, fashion show, etc., followed by a special dinner. Non-teaching and teaching staff took great interest in the event. These are the events where students take a brief time off their busy schedule and strive hard to acclaim proficiency in the field of performing arts.

IIPS Alumni Association Activities

UNICEF and UNAIDS. Although the study does not know that condoms can prevent HIV, revealed the National Family Health Survey, the findings were consistent with a Ufaradhar released at an event by International Institute for Population Sciences on Friday.

The survey found that 47% women and 75% men knew that condoms could help prevent HIV.

Moreover, 61% women and 84% men knew that condoms could help prevent HIV in the 15-49 age group (the productive age group) in Ufaradhar areas. The survey also found that 18% of women and 26% of men have common knowledge about HIV/AIDS. However, only 18% of women and 26% of men have common knowledge about HIV/AIDS.

"The result underscores the pressing need to educate women and men about how HIV is transmitted and how it can be prevented," said the experts from UNICEF.

The seminar will provide an opportunity to discuss the program and policy implications of the results based on State-level priorities and needs.

I take this opportunity to invite you to preside over the inaugural session of the dissemination seminar and also to give the inaugural address. I also request you to depute about 30 health officials from District and State level to attend the dissemination seminar.
